Vol. 117 No. 1 | Cameron, Milam County, Texas, Thursday, March 11, 1976 | 10 Pages Today

117 With F.M.L.

This is The Herald's 117th year, first edition in the bicentennial. We are perhaps the fourth or fifth oldest newspaper in Texas. We are as modern as any in the nation.

We distribute in communities of five Texas counties. Perhaps a dozen years ago, we served roughly half of Milam.

We date from the Cameron Centinel of 1860.

We like bright young people, cats and armadillos.

We would provide a reporter for the first tramsport of people to outer space.

We have been accused of selling ads to wooden Indians, and collecting by the 10th of the month following publication. We have sold page ads by telephone to Floridians in New York.

We believe that a newspaper which is sound economically is sound, which is to say tough editorially. We doubt if anyone questions that.

We are confident of the future because we know of the past. We are convinced the future will produce no greater surprises than the past, only more of them jamming into what is called "future shock."

We are proud of the lineage and the courage of the people who have produced 117 years of Cameron newspapers. We think of ourselves as an institution, a live institution.

We are a fact machine. We question legend and myth. We report about people in a computer age. We favor computers as long as wise people program them.

We are not the oldest nor the largest. But we know what we are doing, seemingly a rare all-round quality these days.

We still think "the supreme test of good journalism is the measure of its public service."

We pass the toughest test of all, the test of time.

Kite Flying Contest Open

Prizes are in store for kids in a kite-flying contest to be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Little League ball field near the airport.

The contest, sponsored by Boy Scout Troop 791 of Cameron, is open for children in grades 1-3 and 4-5.

Prizes will be awarded for: the best home-made kite; best stunt done with a kite; highest flying kite; and best all-round kite.

The public is invited to come out and watch the fun.

MARC Van To Provide Way To R'dale Center

The Milam Association for Retarded Children (MARC) has purchased a van and will soon be making regular daily runs through the county to transport students to and from the MARC Center in Rockdale.

MARC board member Bobbie Jansky said the van was purchased with the aid of the Brenham State School which is also furnishing the driver.

"We are currently in the process of making up routes and would like to hear from those who would like to take advantage of this service," she said.

Mrs. Jansky said the van will run throughout the county each day, pick up MARC students in the morning, take them to the center, and back home in the afternoon.

"We know our routes will include Cameron, Thorndale, and Milano," Mrs. Jansky said. "and we will also be making stops in rural areas in the county as needed."

"If the family lives in the northern part of the county," she continued, "they also can contact the Mental Health Mental Retardation office in Cameron and they will get in touch with us."

Mrs. Jansky also noted that MARC has recently received word from the regional office of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in San Antonio that it is eligible to purchase government surplus commodities.

"This will be a great aid to our organization," she said, "as it will enable us to buy surplus equipment for seven or eight cents on the dollar."

City, School Elections Set

All candidates who will run in city and school trustee elections had until last Thursday to file, and several contests have developed in Cameron and neighboring areas.

Cameron Mayor Gene Blake announced he was not seeking a third term, and present city councilman Lawrence Zotz appears to have no contest in his bid for mayor.

Incumbent councilmen Lincoln Mondrik and Ernest Moore have both filed for re-election and have no opponents.

In Cameron's school trustee election, both incumbents Forrest Sapp and Carol Barr filed for re-election and new candidates for the two spots are Frances Price, J. C. Komar and Leroy Doskocil.

City and school elections are all set for Saturday, April 3.

Buckholts school election has drawn six candidates for three places: incumbents Edwin Lehmann, Glenda Ruzicka and Elbert Svetlik have filed for re-election and other candidates include Jeanette Glaser, Stanley J. Glaser and Ray Harris.

Buckholts Mayor Richard Crowe and councilmen Douglas Williams and W. E. Beckhusen are the only city election candidates.

Thorndale has five candidates for three council posts with Rein Zieschang the only incumbent. Other candidates are Norman Leschber, Harvey Kelm, Gerald Niemtschk and James L. Berry.

Rogers has four candidates for three council posts: incumbents Billy Ray Crow and Dean Gommert, and Bill Sherman and Lupe Munoz as other candidates.

In the Gause school election Cleo Swain and Bobby R. Garrison have both filed for re-election.

County trustees to be elected April 3 include incumbents Willie Glaser, Pct. 1; J. D. Moore, Pct. 2; and George Fisher for trustee-at-large.

Commissioners To Hire Accountant For Audit

Milam County Commissioners voted Monday at a regular meeting to hire a certified public accountant to come and examine county records with an eye toward making a complete audit.

They also approved a tax exemption for the elderly and heard from two funeral homes which are discontinuing ambulance service.

County Judge O. B. Harden told commissioners that Ray Harris, a CPA with a firm in Sinton, has been highly recommended on making county audits. Harden explained to commissioners that CPAs cannot submit bids for making audits according to state law, but Harris can come and look at the records and give an estimate of the cost.

HARDEN SAID THE audit would "pay for itself from what we learn" and that the court "owed it to the public to have an audit."

Commissioners voted to allow a $3,000 homestead exemption for taxpayers who are 65 years old or older to be effective this year. It was noted that other towns and counties have already adopted the exemption.

Judge Harden read letters from Green Funeral Home and Marek-Burns-Laywell Funeral Home, both in Cameron, stating that as of June 15 they will no longer make ambulance calls in the city or outlying areas. No action was taken by commissioners.

HARDEN REPORTED that the county has been promised three car radios from the Criminal Justice Council which have been requested, and discussed disposal of the old base unit in the courthouse.

Harden also told commissioners that the Criminal Justice Council is making application for a county investigator and probation officer.

A plan for use of vacated space in the old tax office in the courthouse basement was presented by County Clerk Wayne Wieser and Mrs. Johnnie Baker of Milam Abstract Co. They requested use of three rooms for storing records and other use by the county clerk's office. This was approved by commissioners with the understanding that any wall scheduled for a new opening would be checked by an engineer before such opening was made.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, commissioners authorized the county auditor to replace the water cooler on the main floor of the courthouse and amended the holiday list to include Memorial Day.

Harden also told commissioners that the county will have to get voting box changes approved by the state before the general election.

McCullin Honored At Chamber Banquet

A. W. McCullin Tuesday night was proclaimed "Mr. Cameron" and speaker George McKinney urged "to get up and do the job" before about 300 at the 42nd annual Cameron Chamber banquet.

Mayor Gene Blake read a proclamation hailing McCullin's devotion to the Cameron area since moving here more than 40 years ago. He is now director of Community Development Agency.

Introduced by MC O. L. Petty, the community development consultant noted the advantages of positive and optimistic attitudes in civic work. It was primarily a humorous talk.

He is a consultant with Texas Power and Light Co. and an after-dinner speaker in the East Texas area.

Outgoing president William Kelm acknowledged the help of about 95 percent of the 200-plus member organization in meeting increased costs by raising dues the past year.

And incoming president Bill McCutcheon pledged leadership for completion of a community youth and show arena during the next year.

Second vice president Milton Wright introduced visitors from eight communities and joined in a group rendition of the "Bluegrass Sound," which included Bill Martin, Danny Barnes of Belton, Gene Smitherman, Rev. Charles Treptow of Buckholts, band director Jerry Bartley and Wright.

First vice president is LaVert McKinney. Phil Smith of Cameron First Baptist Church led the singing of "God Bless America." Rev. Treptow gave an invocation.

Often cited for civic endeavors over an adult lifetime, McCullin was recognized for activities ranging from management work to presentation with his wife of the McCullin Civic Cup in 1950 which he won in 1970. He is active in Methodist Church work, Lions and chamber civic work.

Roy Law assisted in the presentation, written by John B. Henderson, Jr.

The McCullin Cup was retired last year.

Retiring directors are: Narvie Caperton, E. A. Bigbee, Johnny Barrett, Richard Crowe, Goodhue Smith, Richard Williams, Lovic Baugh and L. W. Stroup, Jr.

Assessor's Tax Rendition Form Brings Complaints To Trustees

A controversial form for rendering property for school taxes took attention at the school board meeting Monday as it had at the Cameron city council meeting last week.

The form was drawn up and sent to local businessmen by Theo Aschenbeck, school tax assessor-collector, who said the form is patterned on those used by A&M Consolidated school district and that Waco schools use a similar form.

SPEAKING OUT against the form was Bob Clark, owner of Milam Grain Co., who argued that the form is "self defeating" and will mean loss of industry to the district if pursued.

Clark said effort has been made by the Industrial Foundation to promote the city as an industrial site and the form is "working directly against what we are trying to accomplish."

Board president Calvin Cobb said he had read one of the forms recently and commented that it was "ticklish."

Aschenbeck defended his position, saying he was hired to find property, assess value and collect taxes. He said the form provided each businessman with a rendition their property based on the value. He said such is routine in other political subdivisions.

HE SAID SOME people feared this would raise taxes, but he reminded that a tax collector cannot raise taxes. He noted that school tax valuation has risen from $26 million when he took over to $62 million now.

Clark said he was not complaining about taxes, "but if this is vigorously pursued we won't be able to attract new business."

Board member Forrest Sapp asked what other schools were using a similar form and Aschenbeck said A&M Consolidated and Waco. Sapp said this district shouldn't be "pioneering this" and that it was a "mistake to do this before coming to the school board." Sapp noted that the form asks the value of cash in the bank and stocks and bonds.

Mrs. Betsy Brown remarked that Aschenbeck had done "an excellent job" and Sapp agreed, but said "I don't think this was a proper move without board and administration approval."

ASCHENBECK SAID he didn't intend "to create waves or run business out of Cameron."

In other business, places were drawn for the school board election in this order: J. C. Komar, Leroy Doskocil, Forrest Sapp, Frances Price and Carol Barr.

Trustees also re-appointed the board of equalization which includes Irwin Stoker, Albert Epperson and Jo Ann Pagach.

Board also discussed what's next in its improvement plans and agreed that finishing the interior of the band hall and painting the interior of Yoe High could be done during the summer.

Principals were present to review teacher contracts and junior high principal Bill Huffman reported that his building was going to need some repairs, stating that some walls are cracking and there is water standing on the roof.

YOE PRINCIPAL Jack Chubb agreed that the high school needs painting and head coach Ed Cauley said the school needs a 440 track as the present track limits schools' participation in relays.

Trustees discussed a price of $24,000 asked by Citizens National Bank for the old Carey Lumber Co. building which could be used as a bus barn and tax office. Supt. Budd Dulin said he did not recommend spending that much money without checking on the cost of making it usable and zoning requirements.

Supt. Dulin reported that Temple Junior College's schedules for vocational classes does not fit in with the Cameron school's and there is little possibility of students taking part in the program.

Dulin also discussed a bus drivers' workshop to be held in Cameron starting April 21. He said all drivers must get certified during this year or the next to comply with a new state law.

Board then went into executive session to review teachers' contracts.

Beckhusen Named Director For Citizens

Wilburn E. Beckhusen, Buckholts business man was named to the Board of Directors of the Citizens National Bank of Cameron, Tuesday, when both the bank's board of directors and shareholders met in regular scheduled meetings.

Beckhusen is a native of Buckholts, and graduated from Buckholts High School. He owns and operates Modern Gin, Cotton and Farm Supply and W. E. B. Farms.

Beckhusen is married, has six children and two grandchildren. He is chairman of the board of Hope Lutheran Church of Buckholts. Other civic and business interests include being a member of the Buckholts City Commission, Director of District 6 of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association, vice-chairman of the Milam County ASC Committee and director of the Cameron Area Chamber of Commerce.

Beckhusen joins Goodhue W. Smith, John H. Davis, A. J. Smith, Niley J. Smith, Don G. Humble, and Dr. E. Douglas Perrin, all of whom were re-elected by shareholders to the board of directors of the Bank.

At the shareholders meeting Goodhue Smith reported that the past year had been one of record growth and earnings for the bank. Smith said that year end statements showed an increase in deposits of more than $2.3 million from the previous year. He said that during the year the bank had increased substantially its investment in home loans and real estate loans in Milam County.

Shareholders held their meeting in the newly remodeled bank building where Smith said they now intended to continue banking for an extending period of time.

Hopeful Word: Competent...

Nothing yet says Jimmy Carter is going to be the Democrats' presidential nominee, but it is all but certainty he will be on the ticket with Jackson or Humphrey. Adios, Ted Kennedy.

And the incumbency is beginning to wear down the right-handed certainty and conservatism of Ronald Reagan, losing to the President 53 to 47 percent Tuesday in Florida.

Carter carried the Democratic primary 35 percent to George Wallace's 32 percent and Scoop Jackson's 22 percent.

This says Carter's smile, organization, youth and non-dogma are reaching people just wanting to identify with somebody new. Even for a few primaries.

Wallace is in a wheelchair. And memories of FDR are long faded, and there is no World War II to shade the limitations of any crippled candidate.

Gerald Ford spent almost a million dollars in Florida, but the result was an improvement of 2 points over his almost meaningless 51-49 percent win in New Hampshire. The Florida win at 53-47 has meaning, meaning Ford can win in a cosmopolitan state of East-impacted resort and retirement cities and redneckdom.

Ford beat a guy from another Sunshine state, who is beginning to prove out as a "Johnny-one-note" whose attacks on foreign policy and federal economics are belied by a booming stock market.

Carter is becoming to the Democrats what Reagan is to the Republicans: an attractive campaigner with organization and money. The difference is Carter is not dogmatic. Reagan's constituency is married to his appeal to a decentralizing right. Carter goes beyond both Reagan and Wallace in that he speaks only against centralization. He either realizes or stumbles into the fact that nobody wants more centralization.

The President has the enormous power of the incumbency to weigh out Reagan and the stolid Midwest conservatism and uncomplicated honesty to make a case for decentralization as good as Carter's and better than Humphrey's or Jackson's. The two senators are part of a congressional leadership fast vaporizing by death, retirement or ennui.

It is easier for a chief executive to rejuvenate the White House than Congress to rejuvenate its two houses under new leadership, though both will remain Democratic in 1977.

If negotiation is required to pick a candidate to run on the ticket with Carter, it may heighten the problem of organizing the Congress in January. The liberals in the House will seek higher roles for their ranks held out of key committee posts until a year ago.

Another non-dogmatic is rising in Democratic state ranks. And he is Governor Jerry Brown, of California. At 37, he only begins to prove that dogmatism is unnecessary these days. He is Calvin Coolidge in a liberal suit. Californians love it.

Economics of more than one kind promise a header for Carter. He draws the Democratic South into mainstream party politics for the first time since Lyndon Johnson went in as majority leader in the 1950s, identified as a Texas Southerner who sought a Western label.

One header is organized labor, which likes and knows both Jackson and Humphrey. But the vote which elects somebody to the White House this year is going to be a concentration of Mid-Americans who sway a labor vote center-right.

Another header is national economics which are turning upward, a heavy advantage to the incumbent.

If Florida Republicans won't trade Ford for Reagan because he is the incumbent, a cross section of voters in the rest of the country may find Gerald Ford the most competent when competent is about the most helpful thing to be said for any of these candidates.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

As I understand it, a bunch of Federal Judges who make $42,000 a year plus free office rent and secretary, are claiming that inflation has in effect reduced their net pay and this is unconstitutional because the Constitution says a Federal Judge's salary shall not be diminished. The Judges say the rising cost of living has diminished their salary and they're suing for a raise plus about $50,000 in back pay through 1968.

I'm all for the judges, but they're going about it backwards. Instead of suing the government for more pay, the ought to inform the government that inflation is unconstitutional and it has 90 days to put a stop to it. If in 90 days a Federal Judge goes to the supermarket and finds that his $42,000 won't buy as many groceries as it did in 1968, then everybody in Washington is in contempt of court, and will have to ride to work in a bus.

Changing the subject, I noticed the postal service is trying to shut down several hundred small post offices around the country, saying they're unprofitable. "They're losing money and they ought to be closed," officials said.

This could get out of hand. You shut down every post office that isn't showing a profit and what have you got left?

Changing the subject again, I have finally found the answer to the problem of sports where one side always loses. What I've been looking for is a way for both teams to come out a winner, and the Presidential candidates have discovered it.

"If I can get 40% of the votes, I'd consider that a victory," one candidate says. Another says 25 % would mean a victory for him, and so it goes.

That's the answer. All a coach has to do from now on is announce ahead of the game, "If we can get 40% of the score, we win."

I hope that works better in basketball and football than it does in Presidential primaries.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Agencies Given Downhold Fiscal Orders

—State agencies and institutions got strict fiscal downhold orders from the top last week.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton served notice on nearly 1,000 board and commission members and agency heads at a special budget conference the lid is on state government spending.

Briscoe said he will veto any legislation that requires new or additional state taxes.

The three top officials in budget matters left no doubt they are united in the effort to hold expenditures in line with revenue, and they claimed they are acting on a mandate from Texas citizens "tired of excess government."

Briscoe ordered a five per cent reduction in the state government work-force through normal attrition and increased efficiency. He said he will return to the agencies any budget request which does not show "fiscal restraint."

Continued increases (appropriations have jumped 250 per cent in a decade) will "bankrupt" the state, Briscoe said.

House Speaker Clayton, echoing the governor's hard-line stance, suggested such admittedly-controversial economies as cutting one year out of the 12-grade public school curriculum.

About $1 billion more in additional revenue is expected to be available next year from present tax sources.

Handicapped

Texas Education Agency launched a $9.8 million program to find and assist 10,000 uneducated handicapped children.

The program will be conducted through education service centers in 20 regions in cooperation with 1,121 school districts.

"Child Find" will seek out those between the ages of three and 21 who are blind, deaf, physically handicapped, emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded.

About 300,000 are enrolled in special education programs, but that is only 76 per cent of the handicapped children in Texas. The program has as its goal reaching more than 450,000 children.

Spending Jumps

State spending is running 29 per cent over fiscal 1975 levels, Comptroller Bob Bullock said.

The comptroller said salaries and wages are up 26 per cent, medical care for the needy 32 per cent, foundation school program grants 43 per cent and grants to higher education 33 per cent.

Tax revenues also are up—19 per cent. Natural gas revenues are 40 per cent above 1975, motor vehicle sales 27 per cent and insurance occupation taxation 33 per cent.

State revenues during January totalled $476 million, but spending totalled $526 million. So far this fiscal year, spending adds up to $2.6 billion and revenues $2.4 billion. State government's fiscal year began September 1.

Courts Speak

A Victoria trial court was wrong in throwing out the $325,000 medical malpractice suit of a woman who claimed x-ray injury following a breast cancer operation, the State Supreme Court held.

In another medical malpractice case, the high court upheld a $21,644 damage verdict for a Pampa woman who had a 16-inch square of gauze left in her abdomen after ulcer surgery.

An Arlington man lost an appeal from a life sentence in sex attacks on two Tarrant County women. The Court of Criminal Appeals also rejected the appeal of a Midland County man sentenced to life for strangling his wife to death.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered resentencing of a Dallas man because prosecutors did not document earlier convictions to support a life sentence.

AG Opinions

A state agency does not have to produce confidential personnel records on general demand of a legislator that he needs them for "legislative purposes," Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded:

A court-appointed attorney for an indigent defendant at the trial court level may not be compensated if he does not appear in court.

Hill was asked for a formal opinion on whether Gov. Briscoe could withhold part of the funds appropriated to Texas Youth Council for community-based services based on executive findings that the money cannot yet be used effectively.

Appointments

Robert L. Hardesty, Gov. Briscoe's press secretary, was named associate deputy chancellor of The University of Texas System at a salary of $42,500. Duties include public relations.

Briscoe appointed A. John Castillo of Houston to the Good Neighbor Commission succeeding Dr. Xico P. Garcia of Corpus Christi.

Pedro G. Rodriquez of Odem replaces Jamie H. Clements of Temple on the Advisory Council on Community Affairs.

Gene Yocham of Ballinger, Ernest E. Thormeyer of Winters, Barney C. Puckett of Winters, George A. Ruppert of Rowena, James J. Muller, Ray Alderman of Winters and Arnold Frerich of Rowena were appointed by Briscoe to the Runnels County Water Authority board of directors.

Short Snorts

Atty. Gen. John Hill filed suit here to halt payment to Lower Colorado River Authority by Houston Lighting and Power Company for Colorado River waters used in cooling a nuclear power plant near Bay City.

Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will experiment with solar energy heating and cooling (in a small cottage for the retarded at El Paso).

Date of the big state Democratic party fund raising dinner in Houston has been postponed until June 17, eve of the state party convention in the same city.

Q: We are planning to sell our home. If we find a buyer who wants to "assume" our mortgage, instead of arranging for a new mortgage, could our mortgage company come back to us for payment of the mortgage if the buyer cannot make the monthly payments?

A: Yes. Any time you sell your home by having someone assume the balance of your mortgage, the mortgage company retains the right to look to you for the monthly payments if the buyer fails to meet them. To protect yourself in a sale of this type, the contract between you and the buyer should be written to include provisions allowing you to have title to the home returned to you in the event the buyer defaults; then, you would resume responsibility for paying off the mortgage. Otherwise, the mortgage company could sell the house and look to you for any balance remaining on the mortgage after proceeds of the sale are applied against the mortgage.

Q: How can I copyright watercolors I have painted?

A: Artists cannot always prevent unauthorized reproduction and distribution of their work. Their rights are controlled by common law copyright and Federal copyright laws. Before art works are publicly displayed, the artist has absolute control. Once art works are publicly displayed, the artist must comply with federal copyright laws which require that a statutory copyright notice be affixed to the art work, and a copyright form be filed with the United States Copyright Office. The result of failure to comply is that the artist loses all control over reproduction and sale of his work.

Q: I inherited several hundred shares of stock from my father. Is my husband's permission required for selling this stock issued in my name?

A: No. Texas law no longer gives the husband full control and management of a married couple's community estate. A wife now has full control and management of her separate property and all community property acquired solely with the wife's earnings.

Q: I have a question as to whether my lawyer did something unethical in representing me in an estate matter. Should I hire another lawyer to investigate?

A: You should bring your complaint before one of the district grievance committees of the State Bar of Texas. If you do not know the name of the chairman of the grievance committee in your area, write to the State Bar in Austin. It will not be necessary for you to have a lawyer to represent you before the grievance committee.

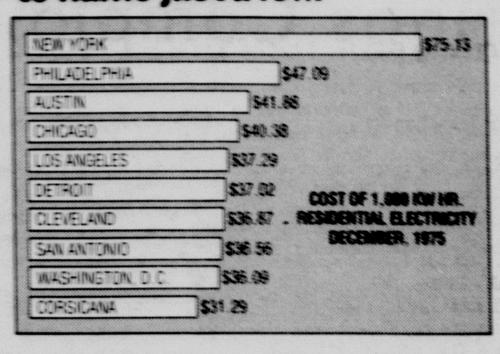
TP&L residential customers in 247 cities pay less for electricity than the people who live in Austin, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, San Antonio, and Washington, D.C. ... to name just a few.



In Corsicana and most other cities in the Texas Power & Light service area, 1,000 kilowatt-hours of residential electricity costs less than in most areas of Texas and the nation.

We're not overlooking the fact that in recent years the price of electricity has gone up everywhere, including the area served by TP&L. Skyrocketing costs of producing and supplying power have left TP&L and other companies no choice but to ask customers to pay more for their electric service.

Even so, the price of TP&L electricity today is far less than it would have been if we were not constantly working to hold down the price. One of the ways we're doing this is to build and operate generating plants which use lower cost lignite coal as fuel rather than natural gas. Two lignite plants are now producing power for TP&L customers and others are under construction and being planned.

For almost sixty-four years, Texas Power & Light has supplied dependable electric service at a fair price. We're working to keep it that way.

Dietrich led the singing with Mrs. Mildred House pianist. Mrs. Tina Weaver and Mrs. Katie Harrell attended the services and visited Mrs. Lula Elley and Mrs. Rosa Rabroker.

Current events were held by Mrs. Nelson Green on March 3. The residents were especially interested in an article on Hydroponic Gardening and the article from The Herald on the new car license plate stickers.

Church services for Mar. 4 were delivered by Rev. Ernest Helsley whose text was "The Parable of the Five Talents" with scripture from Luke 19-11-26.

The residents especially enjoyed the song services brought by the choirs from the First Methodist Church, Young People's Choir of the First Baptist Church and Rev. H. M. Bowley and singers from the Cameron Full Gospel Tabernacle.

The residents have been busy gardening -- planting cuttings, seed and transplanting plants in their new hobby house, a fluorescent light garden. The residents will be raising plants creating a much enjoyed past time for theirselves with anticipations of donations from the public in return.

Cameron Nursing Home

By June Lester

March is growling like a lion, but we know that when she arrives in such a manner, she usually blows herself out and retires as a meek lamb not to return until next year. This is the month we celebrate St. Patrick's Day and we are making shamrocks of green so each resident may have a bit - o - the - balarney to remind us of that greatly celebrated saint.

Nelson Green spoke on John 20:25. Mrs. Sharon McCullin accompanied by Mrs. Denton House on the piano led 16 residents in singing.

Nineteen residents enjoyed Father Geiser's service on the beginning of Lent and his recorded selections.

We have a new tape for our record player. Now our bed residents may listen to an hour of country music or religious music. If anyone would like to loan us a few records of old songs that were popular way back when, we'll tape them off on our cassett player for our music library so we can have a variety. We also need some Czech and German pieces.

Friday was games day with 10 players.

The residents voted on their Nurse's Aide of the Month in which Minnie Hall was elected. She will hold this title for the month of March.

TEXAS TECH. . .

In the first Southwest Conference basketball tournament Texas Tech defeated conference winner Texas A&M to represent the SWC in the NCAA basketball playoffs.

The SWC is trying to upgrade the conference basketball and try to bring more attention to SWC basketball. In their strategy it includes the tournament.

Texas A&M suffered more than a basketball loss to Tech, they lost two powerful freshmen, Godine and Williams. This had a great deal to do with Tech's winning the tournament.

A&M had 11 days between games and Tech had to play three tough games in a row to their final game.

Texas A&M Coach Selby Metcalf said he wasn't bitter that they were knocked off in the tournament--"I like the tournament and we have no excuses."

I don't know if the rationale is correct behind the conference reasoning for a tournament. Maybe basketball has been ignored in Texas and football has always been No. 1. Maybe a shift in interest would upgrade the conference more that beginning a conference tournament.

MART. . .

The Mart Panthers pulled off a come-from-behind victory over highly ranked Morton to take the state AA title. Looking back over the records there is only one blemish on Mart's record. Guess who. Cameron is the only team that defeated Mart who finished the state title and had a 34-1 record.

Morton owned a 29-5 record going into the state tourney. They were ranked above Mart and were highly favored. Going into the final quarter Morton had a 9 point advantage and went cold hitting only 2 points in the final quarter, losing 57-52.

Many memories of the Cameron Yoemen can be remembered by reas playing in the tournament.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Not Just Pin Money . . . It's More Than Chicken Feed . . . It's All About Poultry.

Time was when the poultry industry in Texas was composed mainly of backyard flocks. Virtually every farm home had a small flock of laying hens. More often than not, the lady of the house had charge of the operation, and what money she made was referred to as "pin money." That was also, to a smaller degree, the situation with turkey production in the state.

But take a look at today's poultry business, and you find it is big business. It's one of the most efficient enterprises of all agricultural pursuits. Broiler producers have led the way in teaching others the efficiency in feed conversion to pounds of meat. Dramatic advances have also been made in breeding for laying hens. And that old, tough turkey you used to eat is now replaced with a nutritious, delicious year-round staple.

The monetary value of one segment of the Texas poultry industry can be seen in a report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. All chickens, hens, and pullets of laying age had a value of more than $17,000,000 in 1975. On a per-head basis, that amounts to $1.45 for 1975 compared to $1.40 in 1973 and $1.70 in 1974.

Egg production in Texas for last year in Texas totaled 201,000,000. This is three per cent above 1974 and is also three per cent above a month ago.

TEXAS IS IN THE TOP 10 STATES in several categories in poultry enterprises. Texas is ninth in numbers of hens and pullets of laying age; it is tenth in egg production; Texas is seventh in production of broilers and it is fifth in turkey production.

Commercial broiler production is in the eastern half of the state. The top 10 counties in broiler production are Shelby, Nacogdoches, Gonzales, San Augustine, Panola, Sabine, Upshur, Camp, Cass, and Kleberg.

Turkey production in the state is largely in the central area. Top turkey-producing counties are Gonzales, Bell, Gillespie, McLennan, Hill, Leon, San Saba, Brown, Blanco, and DeWitt.

EGG PRODUCTION is located in all parts of the state. The top 10 egg producing counties are Gonzales, Shelby, Fayette, Nacogdoches, Denton, Camp, Caldwell, Brazos, Bexar, and Tarrant.

Counties with the most hens and pullets of laying age are Gonzales, Shelby, Denton, Camp, Nacogdoches, Caldwell, Fayette, Brazos, Dickens, and Bexar.

Poultry producers in Texas and throughout the nation are continuing to do their part to provide consumers with ample supplies at lowest possible cost.

Texas broiler chick production during January is up 18 per cent from a year ago and eight per cent above a month ago. Turkey poult hatchings are up 30 per cent from a year ago.

Poultry supplies are expected to be plentiful throughout the year.

DAIRY FARMS IN TEXAS continue to decrease in number, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes. In 1975, there were 15,000 milk cow operations (farms and ranches with one or more milk cows); this compares with 16,000 in 1974.

Meanwhile, milk production in the state during 1975 showed a five per cent decline from the previous year. Annual production per cow was about the same in 1975 as compared to 1974.

Nationwide, milk production was down only slightly in 1975 compared to 1974.

January, 1976 milk production in Texas is down three per cent below a year ago; nationwide, milk production in January was up about two per cent from a year ago.

Although milk production and numbers of dairymen are down, it's a different story from the beef cattle industry.

CATTLE ON FEED IN TEXAS, as of the first of this month, is 53 per cent above a year ago and one per cent above a month ago. There are 1,897,000 head of cattle and calves on feed in the state.

In the seven major feeding states in the nation -- Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, and Nebraska -- cattle and calves on feed as of Feb. 1 are up 38 per cent from last year.

Texas cattle feeders placed 324,000 head into their lots during January.

Cattle feeders continue to be optimistic about the future of their business this year and into future years. The cow-calf producer, however, is still facing a rather bleak future for the rest of this year and probably into 1977.

Consumers can expect ample supplies of beef at about steady prices.

GOOD NEWS ALSO COMES for consumers from the citrus producer. The 1975-76 Texas citrus crop is forecast at 16,800,000 boxes. This is 42 per cent above the 1974-75 season.

Grapefruit production is expected to total 51 per cent more than a year ago; early and mid-season orange production is estimated to be up 30 per cent from a year ago. Valencia orange production is 24 per cent above a year ago.

Cotton, grain sorghum, and corn planting time are now at hand in the southern portions of the state. An increase in cotton acres for Texas is assured. Reports indicate a 50 per cent increase in the Rio Grande Valley, which would put the acreage there at about the same as the 1974 level. Other parts of Texas expect increases from a few percentage points to as much as a third.

Peak Year Of Cattle Cycle Past

The passing of 1975 marked the passing of the peak year of the current cattle cycle, says Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This year and the next will be years of cutting down cattle numbers.

Uvacek notes cattle numbers have already been reduced considerably through increased slaughter and a halt in expansion of breeding herds.

Out of a total of almost 13 million replacement heifers reported last year, only 81 percent were added to the breeding herds, point out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

There was also a much lower calf crop in 1975 than in previous years because of a low calving rate, explains Uvacek. The final calf crop figure for 1975 was 50.4 million head.

About 11.5 million cows were slaughtered in 1975, reducing the cow herd by about 1.8 million head, Uvacek says. "If cow slaughter keeps up at that rate, the breeding herd size should be down to a favorable level by 1977. However, a sudden buildup in herd size this year could lengthen the recovery time."

Uvacek says that while numbers of calves, beef cows, milk cows, and heifers are down on farms and ranches throughout the U.S., the number of cattle on feed is up about 28 percent.

Youth Shows 5th Ranking Barrow

Dennis Tomascik, Buckholts, had a barrow that placed 5th in the carcass show at the National & Southwestern Hampshire Conference held at Sweetwater in late February.

The barrow added much to the overall quality of the conference show.

Farm Group Seeks To Amend Act

Jay Naman, president of Texas Farmers Union, today called upon the Texas congressional delegation "to take action to amend the Farm Labor Contractors Registration Act passed by Congress in 1963 to regulate migratory farm labor."

"Recent action of the U.S. Labor Department requiring registration of custom combiners and sheep shearers who work under contract with producers was never inteded by Congress when it amended the Labor Registration Act in 1974."

"Naman said that agricultural contractors who employ skilled and specialized agricultural workers should be distinguished from unskilled migratory agricultural workers and their crew leaders.

"The law can be clarified by simply amending the Farm Contractors Registration Act to exempt custom grain harvesting and sheep shearing from the registration requirements of the act."

Senators Bentsen of Texas and Abourezk of South Dakota have announced that they will seek remedial legislative action to amend the act to exempt custom grain harvesting and sheep shearing from registration requirements.

Optimism Rears Head But Cattlemen Cautioned

Optimism has reared its head again in the cattle industry, says Dr. Ernest E. Davis, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Stronger prices have been received in recent weeks for feeder-stocker cattle and calves, and cull cows and bulls, he adds. "Choice feeder steers weighing 500 to 700 pounds have been bringing $41 to $43 per hundredweight, or about $16 per hundredweight above a year ago. Utility grade slaughter cow prices have moved up to $28 to $29 per hundredweight, or about $10 per hundredweight above this time last year," Davis says.

Many cattlemen belive the cattle crisis is over, and the worst part is over because cattlemen have tightened their belts and culled their cow herds, explains Davis. This has helped rid the industry of an over supply situation that had depressed cattle prices.

Cattlemen sent to slaughter 11.6 million cows during 1975. This reduced the U.S. cow herd from 56.7 million head on Jan. 1, 1975 to 54.8 million head at the beginning of this year.

"To get cattle prices to near break-even levels, cattlemen must continue to cull cow herds in 1976. We need to slaughter about 10.5 million cows in 1976, to reduce the 1977 level to about 52.5 million cows.

County Agent's Notes

Meeting Set For Cattlemen

By Bill McCutchen

Jesse Hoermann, Lee County agent, informs me that there will be a meeting of cattlemen in the Central Texas area Thursday, March 18 at 8 p.m. in Giddings at the Bluebonnet Co-op Auditorium to organize a retail marketing system for beef in the metropolitan areas such as Houston, Beaumont, etc.

Jesse says that this is not limited to any one cattleman or farm organization, but a joint effort by cattlemen of all organizations to engage in a profit making enterprise, something that cattlemen haven't experienced in over two years.

The Lee County Livestock Committee will be in charge of the program, but if you are interested in finding out more on this proposed marketing group you will want to attend.

Tip Pruning Pecans

If you have young pecan trees, why not try a new pruning technique to boost your pecan production. If you are interested in trying it, now is the time to prune.

Called tip pruning, the technique involves cutting a few inches of wood from the shoot tips so that numerous small lateral shoots develop. Any shoots arising from last years wood are capable of producing pecan. This tip pruning increases foilage density, fruting shoots, and reduces tree size.

The tip pruning technique can especially increase production from young pecan orchards.

In a demonstration in 1972 in Guadalupe County, tip pruning trees produced at least 15 pounds more pecans per tree than those unpruned. Trees in the demonstration were nine year old Choctaws.

Tip pruning will not be effective in increasing producting on old trees, and severe pruning can damage pecan trees permanently.

Beef Short Course Set At Buckholts

A beef production short course will start at Buckholts on March 15 at 7:30 in the vo-ag building at the Buckholts School. Other meetings in the series of four will be held March 16, 17, and 18.

Dr. Elmer V. Krehbiel, beef production specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency will be the instructor for the course. He is from Texas A&M University.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call School Supt. Jimmy Hauk or O. T. Johnson, vo-ag teacher. An entry fee of $5 will be charged.

Beef production short course certificates will be presented to each cattleman who attends all the training sessions.

Water Conference Set At Center

"Water for Food and Fiber Production" is the theme for the Texas A&M University Centennial year Water for Texas Conference, March 25-26.

"This conference should provide valuable information for both urban and rural residents alike, and be of particular interest for people concerned with water's future use for food and fiber production," said Dr. Jack R. Runkles, director of the Texas Water Resources Institute and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station professor.

Among major subjects for discussion, Runkles said, are the role of irrigation agriculture in relation to the U.S. supply of food and fiber, cycles of climate and food production.

Insect Pests Make Ready For Spring

It will not be long before gardeners and homeowners will begin waging war on a number of insect pests. A publication by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service can help in this battle.

The publication titled "Insects and Related Pests Attacking Ornamental Plants" (B-1078) offers many color photographs and a description of the different pests that feed on flowers, shrubs, trees, and lawns in Texas.

This publication does not give recommendations for insecticides or miticies. This publication is available for 50 cents a copy from the Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843. Payment should be make with order.

There will be a publication available free of charge in the near future at the County Extension Office which will give insecticide recommendations for lawn and ornamental pests.

With both of these publications homeowners should be able to diagnose many of their insect problems. and take corrective action.

Pest Management

The Williamson and Milam County Pest Management Program will be underway during the last part of March. Scouts will be on the job starting the last of March or early April to check grain sorghum in the program. Until scouts are hired, the County Entomologist will check many of the grain sorghum fields in both counties.

More specific details concerning scouting, acreage contracts, and insect situations will be presented in the near future.

Many producers have been asking if we have caught any weevils in our traps yet. Up to this time, no weevil catches have been made. We should start picking up a few weevils shortly, however. Traps are monitored on a weekly basis until the first of April and twice a week thereafter.

Do you gain any real comfort from that old cliche about dark clouds having silver linings? Who can peel a cloud to find its happy lining?

But frustration has been a blessing to many men. It has driven self-centered souls to seek a new fulcrum for life. It has brought men to God . . . acknowledging human failure . . . seeking divine strength.

And as they have found in the Church comfort and courage they have learned anew the spiritual meaning of defeat and victory.

The One that this world crucified is King of kings. Beyond a cross and a crown of thorns our greatest aspirations await us.

TEA Begins Statewide Search For Handicapped

AUSTIN

The Texas Education Agency (TEA) is beginning a statewide effort to locate and identify every handicapped child of school age not now in school.

State Board of Education Chairman Joe Kelley Butler of Houston announced the beginning of project "Child Find" at a Capitol news conference in Austin.

"Child Find," he said, "is designed to search out young people between the ages of 3 and 21 who are blind, deaf, physically handicapped emotionally distrubed, or mentally retarded, and those with learning disabilities."

The program will be implemented by education service centers in 20 regions throughout Texas, with the cooperation of the state's 1,212 independent school districts. In each region, door-to-door contacts will be made in one specific community served by a school district with an average daily attendance of approximately 3,000 students.

Kelly said through the news media and through door-to-door canvasses, handicapped children not in school will be contacted, their families will receive counseling services, and the children will begin receiving the education they need.

No statistics are available on the number of uneducated handicapped children, Butler said. "We believe the number is above 10,000 children. These children are not receiving educational services promised them by Texas law, and it is the duty of public education agencies to make their parent s or guardians aware tha t free special education is available.

"Texas has made dramatic improvements in special education," Butler added. "Today, public education is serving more than 300,000 students in special education programs. But that is only 76 percent of the handicapped children now in the state. It is the goal of public education to be serving the needs of every handicapped child in Texas between the ages of 13 and 21 by 1980--more than 450,000 children."

Child Find is a project of Texas Education Agency's division of special education and is financed by a grant from the U. S. Office of Education, Bureau of Education for the Handicapped.

"Hope is what we're offering thousands of Texas youngsters, through the project called Child Find," Butler points out. If a child's needs cannot be met educationally, Child Find serves as a coordinator, matching available services and resources to the individual situation of the child. The Board chairman emphasized the program will not duplicate services of other public agencies or private organizations. He said Child Find will act as a "catalyst," representing the child's best interests to appropriate organizations and communicating the availability of special services to parents and guardians on a person-to-person basis.
